Cost-Saving, Pro-Environment Finishing Tools

Finishing Technologies strives to help you create an environmentally friendly image. Clean-air regulations and VOC permit requirements make it imperative to have the right finishing system. Meeting stringent environmental standards can save on the bottom line too: as much as 20-35% on your materials usage. Let us help you save money (and be "green") in several ways:

- Material costs are reduced when less goes to overspray with more-efficient spray methods
- More efficient booth filters reduces labor and disposal costs due to longer filter life
- Reduce labor costs the fewer times your exhaust stack must be cleaned or maintained
- Fewer production shut-downs when less system maintenance is needed
- Re-circulating booths can reduce VOC emissions by as much as 75%
- One of our wood finishing customers now saves $17,000.00 per month on utilities after we installed a new energy-saving nitrogen atomization system
- Newer technologies, like special wood-specific powder coating processes and UV-coatings are environmentally friendly, efficient and result in huge savings on materials

"Pursuing an environmentally 'green' image can result in dramatic cost savings."
